

Slackwood Living Museum

Thursday, March 6, 2014

Second grade students in Mrs. Valentino's class participated in a Living Museum in our school library on Thursday, March 6, 2014. This hands-on learning experience to highlight Read Across America Week was a huge success! Students chose a famous person to learn about and researched the chosen person by reading biographies and writing short reports. Students also made posters to highlight their famous people and created or assembled costumes to wear during our Living Museum. Students practiced their reports orally and prepared for visitors to the Museum. We had many people visit the Living Museum and the second graders' presentations were amazing!
